Parish Council Message...

● Representatives of the Church of St. Mary attended the City of Melrose Planning and Zoning Commission's public hearing on 1/28/19 regarding the Church's request that its property containing the new church site, the cemetery, the school and playground, and the block on which the rectory, parish offices and the fire-damaged former church structure are located be platted/replatted into a new Church of St Mary plat. The purpose and benefit of this request by the Church is to simplify the existing cumbersome and unwieldy legal description of the Church's property resulting from its acquisition of the various, different parcels of land at different times over the past approximately 120 years. The Planning and Zoning Commission approved the Church-requested preliminary and final plats and recommended the Mayor and City Council do likewise at their next meeting. This Church's request for approval will next go to the Melrose City Council for final approval on Thursday 2/21/19. We are grateful for this excellent work on behalf of our parish!

● We are companions on the journey!

Faith Formation News:

Our next One in Faith gathering is again a bit different from those in past months. This week's session – Feb. 13th at 6:00 or 7:30 -- is for students in grades 7-9 and their parents (however, if parents of 5th or 6th graders would like to bring their students to this session, they certainly may). The topic will be the Catholic Church and Ethics. One of this things we will do at this session is to watch the 5 minute Diocesan Safe Environment video. This video is on the Diocese of St. Cloud website, if parents would like to view it before class. Calling all 9-12 grade students! The Castaway Retreat is March 29-31 in Detroit Lakes MN. Elisha Seanger from our parish will help you get registered; please call or text her for more information (320-429-0234).

The 10th grade will meet again on Feb 13th in the Music Room at SMS at 7:00 pm. We ask that a parent or another adult (mentor, sponsor, grandparent, etc.) attend with your 10th grader.

On Liturgy – Inside the Church: Eucharist --Chris Calderone

Last week we explored how proclaiming the Word of God involves much more than just the ambo. Likewise, the Eucharistic celebration involves much more than the altar. Fr. Kevin Seasoltz, a now-deceased monk of Saint John's Abbey, summarized a prevailing Eucharistic theology: "It's not just about what's on the table, but who's at the table." This is apt for today's Gospel, as Jesus begins to call disciples together.

So, who is at our Eucharistic table? One look at the new church's latest floor plan shows a seating arrangement that truly celebrates all who are gathered at the table. Everyone can see the altar as well as those gathered around it. This is a vital and intentional part of the new church design that comes from community input and speaks of the welcoming, inclusive theology our community is called to uphold and believe in.

The new church's floor plan stands in contrast to older church layouts, which typically have rows of pews facing the same direction, designed to funnel the assembly down a single central aisle to the clergy, the sole distributor(s) of Holy Communion – often behind a Communion rail. What is the difference between this and modern churches? Lay ministry! Imagine a sanctuary spacious enough for many lay Eucharistic Ministers to receive vessels containing the Body and Blood of Christ at the altar. Imagine those ministers then spreading out among several aisles to distribute Holy Communion as the assembly comes forward from all directions. Furthermore, imagine larger and more spacious sacristies that allow sacristans and other lay ministers to prepare and purify the sacred vessels. Lay ministry does much to shape the design of our new church!
